

Maria M. Bartoli, M.A, CCC-SLP

B.S. in Speech and Hearing science, Universidad Nacional de Cordoba, Argentina.

M.A. in Communication disorders, University of Houston

Bilingual Speech Therapist

Hanen Certified

---

Her name is Maria Magdalena, but everyone knows her as Maggie. She joined the DV family in 2003 and volunteered in many capacities. After completing her Clinical Fellowship Year at Desert Voices, she started working as a speech language pathologist providing individual speech and language therapy and then parent coaching. She has since enjoyed being a part of the Desert Voices' mission. While pursuing her master's degree in Houston, TX, she started working with hearing impaired children at The Center for Hearing and Speech and volunteered as an interpreter in the audiologist department at the Houston Children's Hospital. This experience made her fall in love with helping children and their families in their listening and spoken language journey. She has a passion for helping and supporting bilingual families.

Maggie is originally from Argentina where she travels every year to visit her family. Maggie and her husband have fallen in love with Arizona, where they chose to raise their three children. They enjoy everything outdoors, from camping to skiing. Maggie's other passion is music, and you will find her on stage singing with the Phoenix Symphony Chorus.

