Olga is a speech language pathologist who works with the preschool students and provides parent coaching sessions at Desert Voices.

Prior to coming to Desert Voices, Olga worked in an outpatient rehabilitation facility where she conducted pre-cochlear implant evaluations and reported candidacy criteria to other professionals. She worked alongside families on their hearing journey from identification of hearing loss to amplification to ongoing treatment.

Olga completed her undergraduate degree in Speech & Hearing Sciences from Arizona State University and obtained her teaching certification to become a bilingual teacher in Dallas, Texas. While in Dallas, Olga obtained her master's degree in Bilingual Education from Southern Methodist University. While teaching, Olga discovered that her passion was truly in speech and language development and went back to school to get her master's degree in Communication Disorders from Arizona State University. Today, she finds excitement in early childhood language development and bilingualism.

When not at Desert Voices, Olga spends time with her husband, Sergio, and their two daughters, Elena and Elisa. They enjoy walking their dog, Lady, eating chocolate sprinkled donuts, and traveling to Mexico and Nicaragua to visit family and friends.
